

“Consequences”

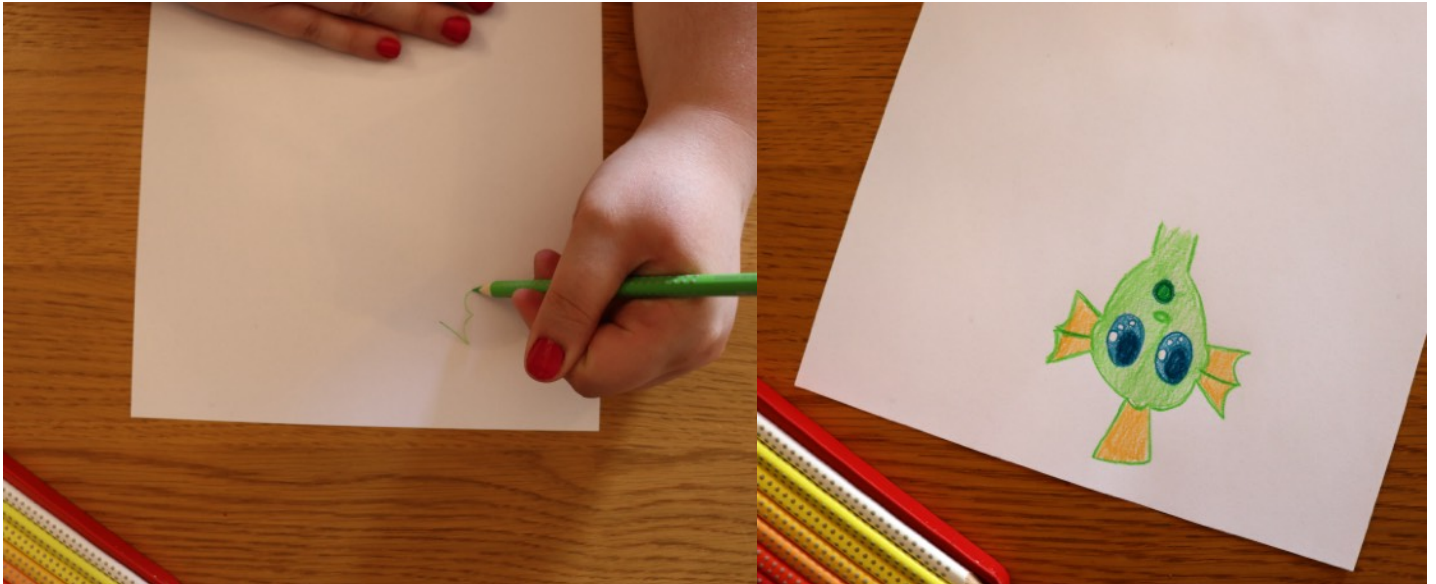

This art game is also known as “Exquisite Corpse” and its a drawing exercise to be down with a friend or group to create a surreal figure for fun

Tools and Materials:

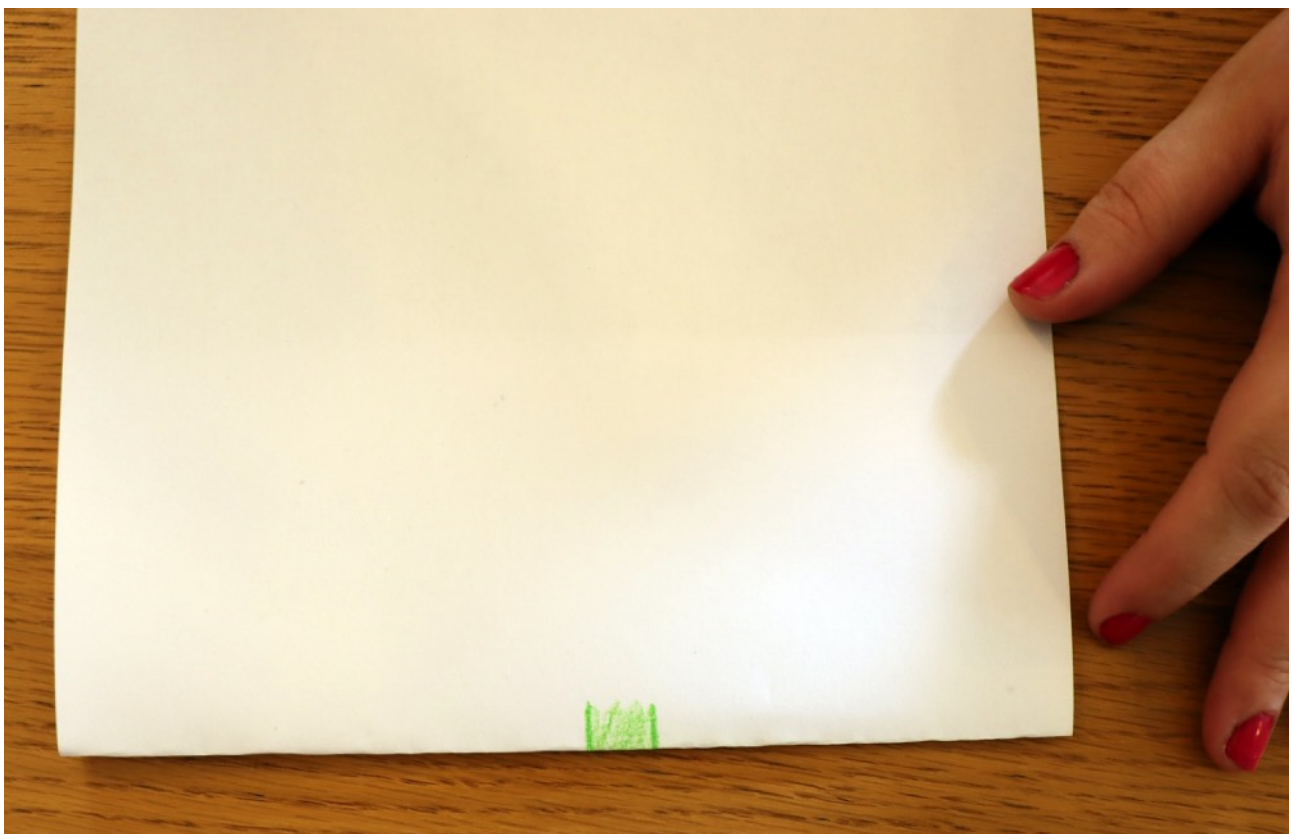

- White Paper
- Colouring Pencils

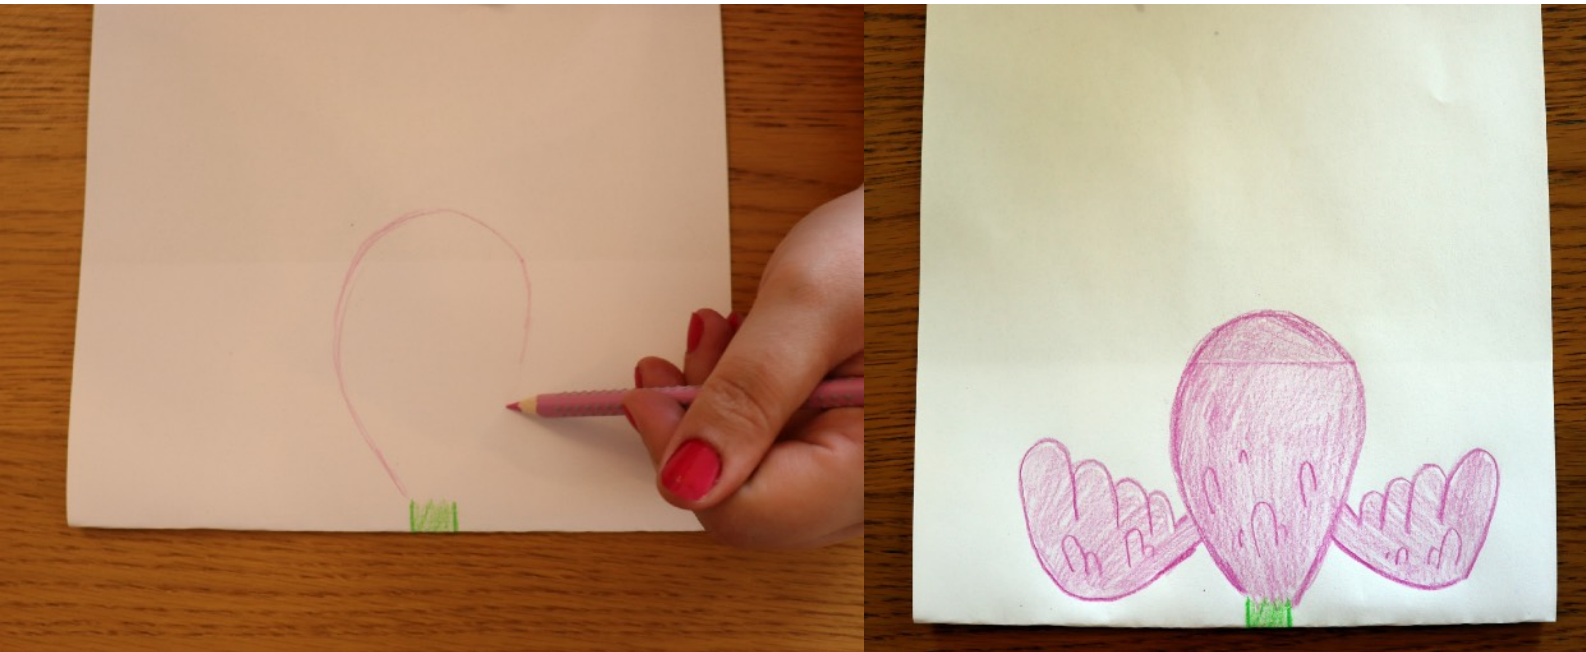

The game works by working with at least one other person or a group sharing the drawing. One person draws the head and the next draw the body and arms, the last draws the legs and feet or you can even separate the feet to make a 4 turn in the game. Start by drawing a head and neck like so

Then fold it over so part of the neck is showing - this is so the next person knows where to draw the body so it is connected to the head

Start sketching the body when you are playing this someone else is drawing a body under the head you created so you aren't drawing on the same drawing you should be drawing on your friends or someone else's from the group. It makes it more fun if you haven't peaked at their drawing so you aren't influenced by it

Same as you did before fold it over so that part of the body is visible so the next person knows where to draw the legs and feet like so

The last bit is to add the legs and feet but as mentioned before if you had a group of 4 then you could do the feet separately if you wish

There you have it your own "Consequences Drawing"!

Here is another we made to inspire you!
