Summer Memories Chart

As a fun memento of Summer why not create your own "Summer Memories Chart" as it is a great way to look back on the school holidays and remember the fun had - from a hang out with friends to a movie night or a day trip to holiday away - there is lots of fun to be had and memories to be recorded!

Tools and Materials:

- A3 Paper
- Pencil
- Ruler
- Paintbrushes
- Watercolour
- Water

So first of all to create your grid/calendar - now there are 7 days in the week however to fit all the days of holiday in we drew 40 squares to cover the Summer holiday in it's entirety - it is a good idea to count how many days you have holiday wise to make sure you have the right number of squares! Based on 40 squares we drew our long line at 40cm, 8 squares at 5cm each, for the shorter side we drew 5 squares still 5cm each so 25cm total. Try and space it so you have more at one top of the page so you can put the title of the chart.

Once you have created your grid then add in our title - we chose "Summer Memories" but you can name it what you like "Summer Fun" etc
Once that is done then start labelling each square with the date of your school holidays - take your time to number each date to make sure you don't skip a day, it is easy to do!

Then start adding your days fun! Some days you will already know what you are doing some you won't know till after they have taken place. This means you can have the fun of adding to it over the holidays!

Bit by bit you can add more fun memories to it and paint them to make it nice and bright!

There you have it your very own
"Summer Memories Chart"!
